

Program

Julie Elsdon-Height, Life Coach

Julie is the founder of SoberJulie.com, a lifestyle blog focused upon Family, Food, Health and Travel. She is also co-owner of SJ Consulting, a digital marketing firm.

Tonight Julie spoke to us about positive energy and how to get through rough times - most timely given the past couple of years we have been struggling through!

I'm sure all of us can relate to the various times that Julie has gone through over the years. It's great to see someone who has faced these challenges, overcome them, and has gone on to assist others with their challenges.

Covid certainly has brought these challenges to the forefront - and we need to learn from that. Surely, as we exit Covid - hopefully in the not too distant future - we can take steps to improve how we deal with things.

Julie said that there are lots of people in our area who are suffering, and there's really not that many appropriate services to help them out. Those who are suffering are not the homeless, they are hard working, everyday folks who are having trouble dealing with things.

What would help was a question and the response was that we need one centre, a Hub of Wellness, something that other communities have.

Thank you Julie for your openness, and for what you are doing!
